WORKING WITH CONTRACTS
What Law School Doesn’t Teach You
SECOND EDITION

by Charles M. Fox
Fox Professional Development LLC

The perfect resource for new associates, law school students, business people, or anyone who frequently deals with complex contracts, the new Second Edition expands existing material on contract covenants and remedies for breach of a covenant; due diligence conditions; organization of the agreement; credit-related provisions; acquisition-related provisions; the integration clause; and indemnification. Other miscellaneous revisions are found in every chapter of the Second Edition. In addition, the glossary and the index have been thoroughly revised.

In its new, updated form, Working with Contracts remains the most useful and practical guide for anyone dealing with sophisticated agreements.

About the Author

Charles Fox spent twenty-two years as a lawyer—fourteen as a partner at Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP—structuring, negotiating and documenting complex debt transactions. In 2005, he left to start his own training and consulting business, Fox Professional Development LLC. He conducts training programs for law firms and businesses on contract drafting, transactional lawyering skills and the documentation and structuring of debt transactions.
