About the Authors

CHRISTOPHER M. CUTLER is a partner at Foley & Lardner LLP and vice chair of its Securities Enforcement and Litigation Practice. Mr. Cutler represents international and national accounting firms, companies, auditors, and individuals in civil, criminal, and regulatory matters, including in investigations before the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB), the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). He also represents financial institutions and their employees before other regulators, such as the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) and the Office of the Special Inspector General for the Troubled Asset Relief Program (SIGTARP).

Prior to joining Foley, Mr. Cutler worked with the PCAOB, where he was the first employee of the PCAOB's Division of Enforcement and Investigations and helped design and implement many of the division’s current enforcement policies and procedures.

Before the PCAOB, Mr. Cutler was with the SEC’s Division of Enforcement, where he opened the Enron investigation and was instrumental in the SEC’s settled fraud actions against various financial institutions, resulting in more than $320 million of disgorged funds and penalties to be distributed to injured Enron investors. Additionally, he assisted the SEC and the Department of Justice's Enron Task Force in other related Enron cases, including those against Enron's former CEO.

M. THOMAS ARNOLD is Professor of Law at the University of Tulsa College of Law. He joined the College of Law in 1980 and has served as Associate Dean and as Acting Dean of the College of Law. Before entering legal education, the author was an attorney for Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Detroit, Michigan.

Professor Arnold teaches primarily in the areas of civil procedure, contracts and business organizations. He has written a number of articles, primarily in the area of business organizations.

The author received his A.B. and his M.A. from Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He earned his J.D. from the University of Michigan.
